

Article 14

In Article 14 it is stated that “Everyone has the right to seek and to enjoy in other countries asylum from persecution.” and it also states on part 2 that “This right may not be invoked in the case of prosecutions genuinely arising from non-political crimes or from acts contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations.” And I am confused on this rule because in the TV show Americas Most Wanted the cops usually arrest the suspect in a different country like Cuba or Jamaica but this rule states that if I committed a serious crime I could flee to a country and not be arrested which confuses me.

I could ask some friends a teacher or my parents for help or i could just look it up to find out how it works but I believe asking a teacher would be the most effective because not everything on the internet is true.

I found that they can't arrest you if it is legal in the country you flee too. Which means if somebody killed somebody and fled to a country where murder is legal it would be legal and they couldn't be arrested.
